Multicultural Mirrors: Meet the Faculty

It is that time again for the annual Multicultural Mirrors: Meet the Faculty mixer for students and faculty. The program which is a part of the African American, Latinx, Asian and Native American academic development initiative also known as A.L.A.N.A. The program is geared towards students from underrepresented backgrounds and first-generation students to assist them with acclimation to the ECU campus.

A.L.A.N.A. seeks to provide academic initiatives to assist with student success in the classroom while also providing cocurricular opportunities for students to feel a part of campus and develop the confidence and resiliency that will take them far and wide. Multicultural Mirrors which serves as a part of the A.L.A.N.A. focusses on allowing students to meet faculty and become more comfortable with approaching faculty for research interests as well as general questions surrounding their classes.

Multicultural Mirrors also seeks to show students possibility models through the present participating faculty of color, who can speak to their own testimonies of resiliency to get where they are. The mixer is set to take place on September 20\textsuperscript{th} from 3pm-6pm in the Croatan Green Room.
